ProtoMiner is an open source desktop application, released under the GPL, that simulates a virtual mining machine. Each virtual miner has a primary purpose: speed, power and cost. Users can create a virtual mining machine by simply dragging and dropping the required hardware into the software. With HashCat 5.0, it becomes very easy for any hashcat user to crack his favorite WPA2 based password. Hashcat 5.0 has received lots of updates, many of which have been added to its suite of tools. Among the new tools included in HashCat 5.0 is cKer, which comes as a set of tools for further cracking the WPA2 password. The Wordlist generator in Hashcat is based on the popular word list generator ELUMBA. The ELUMBA program has been designed to take a large text file and make it suitable for hashcat. ELUMBA is a command line tool that can be used to mass change words and create a huge word list. The Wordlist generator then uses that word list to produce a word list for HashCat. New Simminer is a Windows OS compatible mining program with the unique ability to provide nearly instant visual feedback as to which minerals are present in each small cube. Allowing you to see the level of performance of your precious metal holdings right away and at the click of a button. Simminer can be considered a virtual mineral microscope, allowing for great control of a running or stopped simulation. With the Simminer "Miner Scale" window, you can control the size of the simulation, the depth of investigation, and the amount of each mineral. Simminer provides a wide variety of useful functions, and is a great tool for troubleshooting, and for determining exactly which minerals are present in the simulation. This allows you to know what to mine next. Download Now Its all in the mix? Requirements: Windows Xp, Vista, Windows 7 POEM Calculator is an application that enables you to calculate the sum of geometric series. This is helpful in many situations, such as calculating the total value of a sale, total cost of an item, the total amount of time needed to visit all It's also handy for counting the number of terms in a series such as for an inventory. With a simple mouse click, you can easily select the width of the windows, the exact number of columns, the number of rows, and choose different currencies. Here are some examples of how the program can be used: 1. You are selling a new product and want to know the total price of the item. You can set the starting value at the beginning of the sale, and then make a list of each sale. At the end of the sale, you sum the total price. 2. You have an inventory and want to count the total number of items. 3. You are working with financial reports. You need to calculate the total of any amount for a company. This calculator does not depend on the function, because it can be added in the future. It has an array of functions, so it has no limitations on the number of cells, the number of lines, the number of pages, and so on. We have tried to make the program as user friendly as possible. As a result, you will not need to enter a series of numbers, but a single number and press a button to get the results. To use the program you need to enter a series in the text window. The format of the text box is the same as that of most text editors. You can view and change the form of the text box. The current version of the program is a beta version. If you find any bugs in the program, please let us know. POEM Calculator is an application that enables you to calculate the sum of geometric series. This is helpful in many 1d6a3396d6
